GEN. BREATHITT GOES IN

Some Democratic Clerks Will be Retained For a Few Months.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 8.—Kentucky passed into the hands of the Republicans at 11 o'clock this morning and will, for the next four years, be under the control of the men elected on the ticket with Gov. Augustus E. Willson last November. The formal transfer of the various State offices took place between 10 and 11 o'clock, the last man to be sworn in being Attorney General James Breathitt.

The officers are James Breathitt, Attorney General; Napier Adams, Clerk Court of Appeals; Frank P. James, Auditor; Ben L. Ruener, Secretary of State with Jackson Morris assistant; J. G. Crabbe, Superintendent of Public Instruction; Edwin Farley, Treasurer; M. C. Rankin, Commissioner of Agriculture. Clerk Adams administered the oath of office to W. B. O'Connell, chief clerk and C. S. Wilson as deputy clerk, and when this was completed the Republican Administration was in full control of the State offices.

All of the new State officials have not as yet selected their full office force and as a result several of the Democrats will remain in the various offices for two or three months as a break in the new clerks and until the full forces have been completed.

ONLY A FEW CHANGES MADE

Familiar Faces Still to Be Seen In Most of the Stores.

DIRECTORS ELECTED.

Business Gradually Dropping
Back in Normal Conditions.

There have probably been fewer changes this year in the different business houses than for many years past. The same familiar faces are seen in most of the stores and occasionally a new one greets the customer when he calls. Business since the holidays is gradually dropping back to normal conditions, and as we have had an unusually mild winter, already people are beginning to watch for the advertisements of merchants who, in order to avoid carrying over their unexhausted stocks of winter goods, will soon put them on the market at approximate cost.

Some of the changes made by sales people are given below, and though few in number, the list is about complete:

Mr. J. S. Ditto has resigned his position with the Farmers Hardware Co. He has not yet perfected his plans for this year.

Jesse Burrus, who was with T. M. Jones last year, is now with Bassett & Co.

Stanley E. Stroube, with L. L. Elgin, the druggist, is now at the store of the Anderson-Fowler Drug Co.

Miss Ellen McClendon, one of the office stenographers of the Forbes Mfg. Co., has resigned her position.

Miss Beulah Winfree has accepted a position with L. L. Elgin.

Popular Joe Claxton, late of the police force, has concluded to go back to his trade, painting, and is with the Hopkinsville Lumber Co.

Ed Hester, who had charge of the yards of the Hopkinsville Lumber Co., and did the estimating and drawing for the company, has resigned.

Will Hester, who had charge of the concrete work for the Oriental Construction Co., has resigned.

Ed Hester and his brother, Will, have gone into business for themselves this year as general contractors and builders. Concrete work will be a specialty.

The personnel of the directory of the Forbes Mfg. Co. remains the same as last year with one exception. An election was held a few days since. Owing to the death of the vice-president a meeting has been called soon to choose his successor. Young Mr. Jas. M. Forbes will doubtless be selected. The board as it now stands is composed of M. C. Forbes, president; Geo. E. Gary, secretary; Alf Eckles, treasurer, and Nat Gaither.

The stockholders of the Hopkinsville Canning Co. held an election Tuesday. The old board of directors was chosen. The board is composed of the following gentlemen: W. L. Parker, J. M. Morris, Dr. T. W. Blakey, W. T. Williamson, W. T. Fowler. The directors have called a meeting in the near future to elect officers and a general manager.

The Hopkinsville Sewerage Co. held their regular annual meeting Tuesday afternoon and elected directors for this year. No change was made. The board is composed of J. H. Anderson, President; Dr. T. W. Blakey, Vice President; Alf H. Eckles, Sec. and Treas.; James W. Frank, Jr., Thos. H. Hester, and J. M. Morris.

ONE INDICTMENT IS RETURNED

In the Night Riders Investigation By the Special
Grand Jury.

G. B. POWELL THE MAN.

Eleven Other Bills Returned
In Regular Commonwealth Cases.

The special grand jury returned 12 indictments yesterday at noon, as follows:

G. B. Powell, confederating with others to destroy and destroying real and personal property."

W. P. Winfree, Jr., willful murder.

Chapel Hatchett, col., willful murder.

Melvin Powell, involuntary manslaughter.

R. M. Greenfield, cutting in sudden heat and passion.

Will Brent, malicious shooting.

John Fox, chicken stealing.

Ed Wade, hog stealing, 4 cases.

G. B. Powell is the only man whose indictment grows out of the night riding.

He was one of the panel of the present grand jury, but when the names were drawn his name was left in the hat.

He was one of the "peace army" that visited the city from North Christian in November and was one of the committee that waited on the tobacco men.

The case of Herman Crenshaw was reported upon adversely, but the court made an order holding Crenshaw over under his present bond to answer any indictment that may be formed by another grand jury.

Col. Ayres, who is still Fire Marshal pending the selection of his successor, yesterday sent by express a bundle of the official records of his investigation and the grand jury was considering this testimony yesterday.

If any further investigation is to be made, the sitting will be extended into another week.

Treble Clef Club.

It is announced that the Treble Clef Club will hold its first meeting of the year tomorrow, at 4 o'clock. A full attendance of both old and new members is desired, as important business is to come up and new work to be inaugurated.

At 10 o'clock a. m., the envelope containing the date entitling all holders of each ticket on that date to their money back will be opened.

Be at Our Store Then
At the same time a date for January will be selected. We especially invite you and your friends to be present and see exactly how it is done.

A practicable demonstration is the thing that convinces. COME! COME!

W. T. COOPER
& CO.,

I TAKE this means of thanking my friends and customers for their liberal patronage during the past year, and wish them all a happy and prosperous New Year.

Respectfully,

T. M. Jones.

The supreme court of the United States has declared unconstitutional the "employer's liability act," passed by congress in 1906, at the solicitation of the President. By the law it was sought to abolish the doctrine that the responsibility of a fellow-employee for an accident relieved the employer from suit for damages for the death or injury of another employee.

The Montgomery county committee of the Dark Tobacco Association in session at Clarksville Monday, adopted the following resolutions: "Resolved, that we, the members of the association of Montgomery county, wish it to be put on record that we condemn all such lawlessness, and will do all in our power to prevent any such depredations being committed in our county."

Henry E. The Over-Supply of Gold.

That high prices exist, there is no question. All average price levels, whether English or American, show in eight years more than 50 per cent. increase. In other words, it requires $1.50 to buy what $1 would purchase on the average eight years ago. If these are not famine prices, because during eight years the crops have been bountiful, progress extremely rapid, and the standard of living throughout the world upon the increase, then the causes should be sought in the depreciation of money. If the statistics agree in showing the quantity of gold increasing, the cost of production per ton of ore diminished radically by new inventions, and the world's stock of gold showing a marked and sudden increase, little doubt remains. The facts are plain. A golden deluge is already upon us. In the year 1700 the annual production was $7,000,000, in 1800 $12,000,000, in 1900 $362,000,000, in 1907 $425,000,000, and the rate of increase is accelerating. When we remember that the larger amount of each year's production is added to all that has been produced before, unlike all other commodities, that at the present rate of acceleration the world's stock can double in less than twelve years, and finally, that the causes of the gold flood are not sporadic and exceptional, but entirely rational, namely, the ingenuity of chemists and metallurgists, who have succeeded in reducing the profitable working cost per ton of ore from $14 to less than $2 at the present time, by new inventions, this question of gold depreciation becomes easily the financial problem of the age. For the amount of cheap gold ore is unlimited in nature. Mr. Frederic Upham Adams, in the August issue of Success, quotes Mr. John D. Rockefeller as saying: "It seems to me that one of the most startling conditions this country must face is the over-production of gold."—From "The Gold Flood and Its Problems," by J. Pease Norton, in the American Review of Reviews for January.

A Different Kind Of a Rural Play.

"Quincy Adams Sawyer," coming to Holland's Opera House for one night on Saturday, Jan. 18, is said to be wholly different from any other New England play, and advantageously so. It has been treated with special individuality of perception and judgment, and the company was reported by the critics there to be chosen with excellent regard for their ability in this line of country character impersonation.

The story of the young city man in the country is so naturally handled that everyone perceives the varied romance humor of the different situations, and laughs and sympathizes with equal spontaneity.

Romance of a Street-Car Post.

For several mornings now I've seen Her sing the car at Wilson street. I've noticed in my daily ride. Her hair is brown, her face is sweet! And yesterday, when she sat down, She took the cross seat by my side! I made a bluff at reading news, But over my paper stole a look. Her eyes—she kept upon a book. "Was 'Inhabits', or something like, And she was buried in the same. I wonder who the deuce she is And what she is, and what's her name?"

This city life is pretty fierce! Just see that poor old woman there, she has a basket full of truck, And in her face are beams of care. Perhaps she's going down to scrub In some skyscraper by the lake—Trot on her hands and knees, to rub Away the filth the headless make!

TUESDAY.
Ah, here's a bloke! Just sniff that breath! Great snooks, but this is tanyard air! Sometimes when I sit next a small, It shocks my breakfast egg for fair! But, anyhow, I wonder who That girl is with the dark brown hair?

Her cheeks are like wild apple bloom That blossoms in the tangled wood, And in her eyes there glints a light That tells the worldly man she's good. I wish that I might know her well, Might call to see her when I like—But say—if I keep staring thus, She'll think I just came off the pike!

THURSDAY.
Last evening something happened us. When I got on at Plymouth Place, She sat across the aisle from me—The girl that had the dark brown face! At Quincy street, I think it was, An aged lady took the car. She had an old, gray cloth valise That spoke of journeys oft and far. Most all the men were hurried deep Behind their evening papers there, And I got up to give my seat.

When I saw silver in her hair, Just then the car-truck struck a switch—I grabbed and missed the dangling strap!

The next thing, I was sitting in The little brown-haired woman's lap! Well—yes, I guess that I blushed some in finding equilibrium!

I glanced at her and humbly begged Forgiveness for my awkward fall. She didn't seem to be real mad, Nor look contemptuous at all.

And just before the others laughed, I saw a twinkle in her eye.

At that she stretched and yawned, and dusted And crossed her face there swept a cloud Of anger at the giggling crowd. And when she shot one biting glance Around that car, it froze the mirth Of several fellows who were bold.

And tittered with a quaking girl. Or where she works—and what's her biz?

MONDAY AGAIN.
I've not a raise and Rogers says There's talk of letting me go in. And he the "Company" in our firm—But anyhow, this ain't no tin! I'm going out to Smith's to-night. Smith's got the sweetest little girl In all the North side—near the lake. He's jolly, too, is Smith, and fat. Somewhere, I always like to go.

Along with Smith to Rogers Park. His home is happy and his wife Is handsome as a new-made dress. She's what Smith's chums call, "Bawel, all right!"

And, on the level, she is bright.

TUESDAY.
Well, great horn powers and other things! Now what the mischief do you think? That brown-eyed girl I've met so much Is Smith's niece—her name is Brink! She's just come here from Tennessee To stop awhile with Mrs. Smith!

(I muffed it when she bowed to me; She seemed some rattled, too, herself! When we were settled, comfy like, Just for a quick little talk.)

She up and gave the joke away! Exposed to Smith and wife the snap Of how I landed in her lap! Well—anyhow, I did my best.

And Mrs. Smith she asked me out To Sunday dinner! I should shout!

WEDNESDAY OF ANOTHER WEEK.
I took the train on time to-day And I was lucky, too, I guess, For Brink was there and looked immense In some new-fangled morning dress! (She's helped Smithy on a case!)

I wish she'd come and work for me, 'I would make a heaven out of work To have that woman for a clerk!

She welcomed me beside her there Upon a space—may two by four, And then I noticed on her hand A ring! A diamond ring she wore! It surely can't be she's engaged!

I wonder, somehow, why God cheers Our hearts with subterfuges and then sends A deluge of His hottest tears!

THE FOLLOWING TUESDAY.
That wasn't anybody's ring But here—and now she's wearing mine! I told Smith yesterday out home, And Smithy he was really fine.

He took my hand and kissed his wife, And when I up and kissed his wife, He only laughed, and called me "pard." And said he hoped our path of life Would be an endless summer day.

With roses blooming all the way. And as for her—why, bless her heart, 'Till she'd her ever from alarm—She said she scarce could say my name Since I had tumbled in her arms!

Disappointment.
A Colorado editor says: "A subscriber came in Thursday to pay his subscription—had the money ready and we were already figuring on best-steam for supper, when we looked up his account, and found it paid into the next year. There are many kinds of disappointments in this world and but few varieties of joy, but we are always ready to look up an account even if we don't always make good."

Confidential.
J. H. Sargisson bought 5 cents worth of fly paper the other day and asked to tell him. When told he had to have a hunting license to engage in fly killing he became quite meek and promised us a good cigar if we wouldn't mention it. Hence this notice.—Berthoud (Colo.) Bulletin.

NEW YEAR WEDDINGS

Matrimonial Market Dull, But Outlook Better.

In 1907 licenses were issued for the marriages of 192 couples, an average of 16 per month.

Licenses were issued this week to the following:

J. B. Moore to Octavia Brouters.
Charlie Smith to May McElroy.
The marked dullness in the matrimonial market for the first week of the new year may not continue very long. Already two or three weddings in the near future are spoken of. One of the prospective brides is a pretty young lady of North Main street, but we are not permitted to give names just now.

GLADDISH-SKEEN.

Rev. P. P. Gladdish obtained a license a few days ago, but the time when he would take to himself a bride was not made known. Miss Lena May Skeen is the lady who captured his heart. The wedding will be one of the events of North Christian. Rev. Gladdish is a very popular minister and has officiated at scores of weddings and many of the friends of the bride and groom will witness the ceremony.

WHITE-HAWKINS.

A surprise wedding took place at the Baptist parsonage in Cadiz Thursday of last week. The high contracting parties were Miss Anna White, of Cadiz, and Mr. Frederick Hawkins, of Huntington, W. Va. The marriage was the consummation of an attachment that had existed for quite a while and was a complete surprise to the friends of both the bride and the groom. Mrs. Hawkins is the daughter of Mrs. Cordie Hanbury White, of Cadiz.

SCHONE-HARRIS.

A rather romantic wedding took place in Hopkinsville a few days ago—or rather the wedding was the sequel of a romantic attachment. The principals were Miss Lena Harris, of this city, and Mr. Reinhart Schone, of Frankfort, South Dakota. As a rule reproductions of a photograph in the columns of a newspaper are not flattering, by any means, but Mr. Schone saw a picture of Miss Harris in a paper and was so struck with the shadow that he determined to know something of the original and opened up a correspondence. Letter followed letter, 1 of them accompanied by the photograph of Mr. Schone, and soon there was a case of love without sight. Mr. Schone finally came here and everything was arranged for an immediate wedding, which was celebrated at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mattie Harris, on Twelfth street, Rev. H. D. Smith officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Schone will make their future home in Dakota.

Quiet Wedding.

Mrs. Mamie Broadus, of this city, and Mr. Taylor Morrow, of Elkton, were married last night at 7 o'clock, at the residence of Mrs. Sue Shanklin, 917 South Virginia street, Dr. M. A. Jenkins officiating. The marriage was witnessed by only the immediate relatives of the bride and a few close friends of both parties.

Kentuckians For The Army.

It has been decided to hold the graduation of the first class at the Military Academy on February 21. The date has been selected by the superintendent of the Military Academy under instructions from Washington. For the first time in many years, there will be a graduation at West Point in advance of the annual examination, which is held in June. The demand for army officers, however, has led to this action. The graduation of the first class at West Point and the commissioning of its members will be followed by further examinations of enlisted men from the army and civilian candidates who are designated for competitive determination of qualifications for appointment as Second Lieutenants.

The Kentuckians in the graduating class include S. B. Buckner, Jr., R. Donovan, T. J. Johnson, V. L. Peterson, T. J. Smith and E. N. Woodbury.

Messrs. L. Yonts and S. T. Fruit, attorneys, have formed a partnership for the practice of their profession.

Friday night Rev. Geo. H. Means will preach. His subject will be "Intemperance, the Missionary Course."

There will be no services Saturday night.

"I have had seven years of proof that Dr. King's New Discovery is the best medicine to take for coughs and colds and for every disease of condition of throat, chest or lungs," says W. V. Henry, of Panama, Mo. The world has had 35 years of proof that Dr. King's New Discovery is the best remedy for coughs and colds, la grippe, asthma, hay fever, bronchitis, hemorrhage of the lungs, and the early stages of consumption. Its timely use always prevents the development of pneumonia. Sold under guarantee at C. H. Hendrick's drug store. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

STABBED IN SIDE.

Wound Is a Very Serious One.

Beverly Blye and Edgar Reed, both of the Bainbridge neighborhood, became involved in a row Tuesday, and it is said that the latter received a bad stab wound in the body, the knife blade penetrating the hollow. Reed's injury may result fatally. It is reported that Blye left for Caldwell county immediately after the trouble.

John S. Rheas Takes

Exception to Governor.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 4.—Former Congressman John S. Rheas, of Russellville, in a spirited statement today takes exception to what Governor Wilson said yesterday in reference to "a violation of promises" on the part of the managers of the tobacco associations in the Hopkinsville-Russellville-Princeton districts. "I do not believe that the Governor made any such statement or used any such language," said Mr. Rheas. "If he did make it, I am sure he had no promises that the managers of the tobacco associations in the Princeton-Hopkinsville-Russellville district had knowledge of these raids that they were to be made and that they could have been prevented by the managers, and that the managers had promised the Governor after the Hopkinsville raid that no other raid should be made."

"I do not believe any such promise was made, or any promise made that indicated that the managers of the tobacco associations, or any one of them knew or could in any way control the night riders."

"The managers of the tobacco associations in the territory named and in Tennessee are men of the highest character and integrity. They are in every respect quite the equals of the Governor himself or any one else. If the Governor made the statement quoted, he is taking through his hat."

Magazines.

McClure's For 1908.

Plans for McClure's for the coming year have just been announced. The magazine, judging from its prospectus, will continue to deal with great and important subjects. The first of these began in the November number. It is a series of articles on

GREAT AMERICAN FORTUNES.

This series of articles by Burton J. Hendrick will tell the story of the most wonderful era of the former building in history. The development of a virgin continent of boundless wealth within the memory of men now living is an industrial feat unparalleled in the history of the world. The record of this development is the history of a great political, financial and industrial struggle. But added to the absorbing historical interest of these articles is a spice of romance and adventure which makes fiction seem flat. Here are Arabian Nights dreams come true. Girding a great continent from sea to sea with iron rails, stringing it with lights, taking from the heart of it thousands of tons of precious metal, the god-like growth of a great nation, are the facts in the background of fabulous American fortunes ranging from twenty-five millions upward. It is a story of extraordinary personalities, of great games of chance, of industrial warfare, political and incredible fact.

THE SERIAL OF THE YEAR.

Those who enjoy a good serial will do well not to miss "The Wayfarers," by Mary Stewart Cutting, which begins in the December number. It is one of the rarest things in modern literature—a real love story—and the author of "Little Stories of Married Life" has her own fresh and delightful way of telling it. "Romance is a flowering weed that grows in any soil," she declares in the opening chapter, and Mrs. Cutting takes her characters, average men and women of moderate means—the representative class of the country—through a most interesting series of business and domestic adventures.

STORIES OF ADVENTURE.

Then, there are to come many good old-fashioned thrilling tales of adventure, both fiction and authentic narratives of personal experience. A series of adventures in the South Seas by a new writer, stories of the early days of the West, when herds of cattle ran wild and hostile Indians lay in wait for the dauntless pioneer. But most thrilling of all is a series giving the actual experiences of a detective who was involved in the wider life of the West. Seldom has any magazine offered such an abundance and variety as McClure's will publish during 1908.

McClure's Magazine was advanced in price on October 1, 1907, to $1.50 per year, but until February 1, 1908, THE KENTUCKIAN will, by special arrangement with the publishers, accept your subscriptions for one or two years at the old very low rate of $1.00 per year.

J. M. Starling, who has been confined to his bed most of the time since January 6th, left for Rochester, Minnesota, Wednesday. He was accompanied by Dr. F. P. Thomas.

BRITAIN'S AWAKENING

Opinions of Eminent Englishmen on Municipal Ownership.

Increasing Debt and Taxes, Failure to Provide for the Future, Needless Expenditure and Difficulty in Keeping Good Men as Officials Are Some of the Results They Note—The Open Door For Socialism.

The Yorkshire Observer quotes the mayor of Bradford as saying in a public meeting that on account of the great demands upon the time of members of the council it was difficult to get good men to enter or remain in that body. Yet the corporation had £11,000,000 invested in its undertakings, which must be managed in some way or other, good, bad or indifferent.

According to Dr. Ingram, chairman of the finance committee of Woolwich that I-tough reached the verge of bankruptcy under the management of the M. O. party, which tried to show that the electric plant was profitable by the simple expedient of not paying bills. The new administration was faced with a floating indebtedness of $75,000, which has to be provided for by taxation.

The Yorkshire Observer states that at a meeting of the Rotherham borough council Alderman Gummer objected to the amount which the gas undertaking contributed to the rates on the ground that it had been made possible only by raising the price of gas and thus making its consumers bear an unfair proportion of the rates. This bore especially upon the poor, who use gas instead of electricity.

If a city is well governed municipal ownership is the most dangerous thing imaginable and should be carefully avoided. There is always the danger that the public utilities the city is supposed to own will become nothing more or less than the private property of the people at the head of the government, who will work to their own advantage and the enhancement of their private wealth—William T. Stead, Editor Review of Reviews.

At the fifth annual conference of the Municipal Tramways association G. W. Hafford, general manager of the Salford corporation tramways, stated that the probable average life of rails was twelve years. Commenting upon the fact that in many cities no depreciation or renewal fund was being set aside, he "earnestly warned the gentlemen responsible that serious results would follow in ten or twelve years' time, when heavy calls would have to be made upon the ratepayers for the purpose of renewal."

Four years ago London took over its waterworks, with the result that water rates had increased rather than diminished. Referring to the operating expenses, Sir Melville Beachcroft, chairman of the water board, recently said:

"So far it must be admitted that no saving has been effected. I do not think that it was ever anticipated that there would be any saving in the expenses of administration, as the management of a trading concern by a municipal body must always involve expenditure quite outside that which falls on a private company."

In my opinion, the root of the evil is to be found in the too great facilities afforded by parliament for crazy municipal traders to borrow money upon periods of repayment out of all proportion to the lifetime of the work upon which the money is expended. In Huddersfield we are wearing out our third set of tram rails, and yet payment for the first set will not be completed until 1957. In our capital of £14,000 for some thirty miles of tramways there is at least £10,000 for which we cannot produce any asset whatever.—T. H. Moore, Esq., Alderman and Chairman, Huddersfield Corporation Tramways.

An English correspondent writes: "The tram cars in Liverpool until late years were owned by a private company, whereas now they are owned by the corporation. In the time of private ownership overcrowding was unknown; now it is the rule. On inquiring the reason of the change I was told that it was this: The regulations as to numbers remain the same, but they are never enforced. The police dare not enforce it because they are servants of the corporation; the corporation will not enforce it because its enforcement would mean a reduction in the receipts, and the borough bench so largely consists of justices either members of the corporation or under its influence that no conviction is sought for by a private person would be obtained."

Karl Hardt, one of the Socialist members of parliament, voiced the sentiments of English Socialists when he said at Bradford a year ago: "It becomes increasingly evident that Socialism in this country will come through the municipalities—municipal trams, municipal water, municipal gas, municipal electricity, municipal bread, municipal coal and municipal land. These things are all putting the people, or will put them, in possession and control of the economic life, and that is what Socialism aims at."

Roswell N. M. has voted two to one against bonding for a city water plant.

My wife laughs at me during the breakfast quarter-of-an-hour when, in my hurry to catch the next train, I sit my bodied egg too gently with my knife and the shell has to be picked away in pieces. What we need in this hurry-up land is a lot of hens that will lay eggs with shells of equal thickness. Then a man can get onto the stroke and stop this factitious levity.

Cologne the Mop.

Everything is being reformed these days—everything except housecleaning. Women still clean houses in the same old way they did in old Pharaoh's time. They still leave tackle on the floor and buckets of water where baby is sure to fall into them and sweep the stairs down. No one seems to have yet thought of leaving the water on the floor, putting the tackle in the pail and sweeping the stairs up, throwing the residuum out of the rear window. No one ever sends the windows down to the laundry or puts eau de cologne on the mop. But some day there will arise a reformer in skirts and these things will be attended to—Portuguese Post.

Why the Editor Left.

A couple who were high up to four-score years of age were wedded in an East Tennessee town recently, and the editor of the local paper headed his account of the event "A Romantic Affair." It was the last word he used in the edition but all been washed he packed the grip and left for parts unknown. The newspaper I bought it—A Rheumatic Affair—Springfield (Ivans) Herald.

A fortune awaits the man who invents a train that will scare the chicken and catch the chicken thieves.

POLICE RAID

Crap-Shooters and Arrest the Covey, Numbering 12.

The police got on to a little game "around the corner" and had the participants before the City Court Monday on the charge of gambling. There were just an even dozen in the covey and the usual fine of $25.00 was put opposite their names. The somewhat modern game of "crap" has an irresistible attraction for many of the Hopkinsville youths, and the blacks, in particular, and though they seek secluded and generally unknown nooks to indulge in their favorite game, the police eventually for one little game than they could make in two or three weeks at hard work. Two other arrests were made Monday—one for disorderly conduct and the other for drunkenness.

Bob Brown Ill.

Mr. Robert W. Brown, managing editor of the Louisville Times, was operated upon for appendicitis at St. Joseph's Infirmary Monday night by Dr. George S. Coons and Dr. A. M. Cartledge. The operation was successful and Mr. Brown's physicians said he would pass a good night. Mr. Brown was taken ill at his desk in the Times office Sunday morning.

Intimates That Troops Are Antagonizing Tobacco Planters.

Guthrie, Ky., Jan. 7, 1908.
To his Excellency, the Governor,
Frankfort Ky.

My Dear Sir:

In response to yours of 4th inst. and the various newspaper articles, which have appeared over your signature. The association, which I have the honor to be connected with, feels perfectly consistent in its attitude and effort. It was conceived and nurtured for as pure a purpose as the creation of the office of governor of the great state which you have the honor to represent. The association is progressing, notwithstanding the tremendous odds against it in the form of the money power. The homes of this section are more comfortable, food and clothing more abundant and better, greater thought is given to the education of children, and farming lands are more valuable. Lawlessness, disorder, or even violence by right of the law, was never part of the Association's programme. I have clearly indicated to you, that I thought it far more harmful than beneficial that even were it to prove an expedient, it could not be a permanency. I know not who the lawless people are, but I do know that in committing lawlessness they were acting in the capacity of individuals and as such are amenable to law. Since I saw you I have endeavored to perform the duty of an enlightened citizen, I have endeavored to discourage lawlessness, or even great force. As to your personal attack upon me, and others of our directorate by letter and in the newspapers, we feel that in due time, we can take care of it, not only according to law, but as dignified, honorable citizens.

Your caustic criticism may sting a little, but does not penetrate deeply enough to hurt. For the good of the great State of Kentucky and for the glorious Association, we can be quite patient, or if need be, strangle entirely any personal feeling which may be engendered. I cannot comprehend your premises, in reckoning I had violated any promise to you. I must emphatically deny this, and have a most credible witness, my correspondence will show for itself. I deem it unwise to enter into a controversy with you, of which there is a suggestion already, that it might become less considerate, and more sensational. This will inevitably result in injury to the State and the Association. The Association would be very slow and careful in any procedure, which might possibly undermine the interests of the great State. We trust you will be mindful of the fact that the most scientific physician reasons out causes as well as effects, and to be a broad, successful practitioner, endeavors to relieve both cause and effect. Will you give conditions, past, present and future, the fullest considerations? Remember, there has never been a suggestion from this Association, that any law of the State, be disregarded or returned.

What the Association desires now is the restoration of amicable, commercial relations at Hopkinsville. It has never been our purpose to disrupt business relations existing, which were in many instances closely allied with our success, such for instance, as banks, merchants, insurance companies and innumerable others. Commercial conditions there today are strained, and the Association, no less than other enterprises there, will be hindered to some extent in its progress. We would be glad to aid in the relief of these conditions. Whoever or whatever may be the causes, the effect is apparent. I note you say you think it unwise for you to go to Hopkinsville to address a large gathering, which the Association would invite, or to have a meeting there in person, and without entering into the details of this, I simply ask you, would you think it wise to send G. N. Johnston here, with a committee of say five conservative men of Hopkinsville, to meet a like committee of the directors of the Association, in an effort to evolve a plan to relieve the tension there?

Without criticizing, I am of opinion that the presence of troops there will do more to magnify than pacify, and if you will study conditions carefully, I believe you will see that a tremendous injustice might be done Hopkinsville, commercially speaking, as well as by lawlessness. The Association numbers many honest, level-headed men, who are sincere, practical and law-abiding, who would gladly aid in the relief of the situation at Hopkinsville. In conclusion, I will say, you have proclaimed that you would preserve the law and dignity of the State. This declaration cannot encompass one class of citizens, only. The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of Kentucky has said there were enough laws on the statute books of Kentucky to put down the nefarious methods of the Trust. You have sent many soldiers to Hopkinsville. Will you use the full influence of the highest office in the State, to do this? Will you assemble at Frankfort the equivalent of one hundred soldiers in good lawyers, to protect to a full extent the interest of the tobacco planters at the State's expense?

Yours Truly,

F. G. EWING, Gen. Manager.

BROKE HIS ARM.

Second Fracture of Limb
Within Two Months.

Wiley Stroube, little son of Mr. W. A. Stroube, of Near Howell, broke one of his arm for the second time Monday. About six weeks ago the little fellow fell and broke the limb. The fracture healed rapidly and was about well when the second accident occurred. While at school Monday he tripped and fell over a desk in the school room and broke the member in the same place.

YOUNG WOMAN

With Remarkable Memory
Wills Brain to Science.

New York, Jan. 7.—Miss Louise Randolph, a young woman who is credited with possessing an unusual memory, has decided to will her brain to the Anthropometric Society that it might be studied by scientists when, under the operation of the immutable law, she will have no further for it. It is said that Miss Randolph is the first woman to make this disposal of her brain.

"Shudder at the prospects? Of course not," Miss Randolph said last night. "A woman who credits me with possessing an unusual memory first suggested that my brain undoubtedly would reveal things interesting to scientists. She is a friend of Dr. E. A. Spitzka, professor of general anatomy in the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia. She interested me in the work being done by the Anthropometric Society, of which Dr. Spitzka is one of the founders.

"The secretary has obtained the brains of several prominent men, including Walt Whitman, but no woman has ever come forward with an offer of her brain. Science falls short of its purpose if its researches are restricted to the brains of mere man. There is no telling what a woman's brain will reveal, and I intend to give my sex a chance.

"As I understand it, membership in the society makes it beholden on members to bequest their brains to the society. If I am elected my brains go with the several results." Dr. Spitzka has acknowledged his appreciation of Miss Randolph's offer.

Boy to Hang.

Gov. Patterson announces that he will not further interfere in the case of Lee Holder, of Obion county, Tennessee, sentenced to be hanged on January 9, for the murder of his father. Holder has been twice reprieved. He is almost a boy.

Watched Fifteen Years.

"For 15 years I have watched the working of Bucklen's Arnica Salve; and it has never failed to cure any sore, boil, ulcer or burn to which it was applied. It has saved us many a doctor bill," says A. F. Hardy, of East Wilton, Maine. 25c. at R. C. Hardwick.

THE BIG NEW GUN.

Third Regiment Now Has
Same Equipment as Other Regiments.

The gatling gun which will hereafter be a part of the equipment of the Third Regiment, which arrived Sunday night, is a very formidable machine. It shoots 600 cartridges one and one-half inches long in one minute. It can be moved from side to side by working a lever and made to sweep everything before it for 2,000 yards. Properly manned it will do the work of a whole regiment in battle. It is the first piece of artillery seen on the court house square since the military occupation of 44 years ago. A gun squad from Co. D will be appointed by Captain Clark, who will be taught to operate the gun by the squad of Co. H that now has it in charge.

OLD CONDUCTOR

Of Hopkinsville and Nashville
Accommodation to Be Changed.

By the installation of the new train on the L. & N. Capt. F. C. Gephardt is to give up his old run from here to Nashville and will be conductor of the new train. Conductor Will Cogart, who has had charge of the passenger train between Guthrie and Elkton, is to take Capt. Gephardt's place on the accommodation. This train will not run on Sundays, but the new train will stop at all stations every day of the week, including Sunday.

The L. & N. has never run a more popular conductor than Capt. Gephardt and everybody will regret to learn that the change to be made will necessitate the removal of Capt. and Mrs. Gephardt to Evansville. Altogether Capt. Gephardt has made his home in this city for fourteen years, having been here the last ten consecutive years.
